2. Term of authority of provisional administrator of property terminates with any of the following events:

- a) appointment of the administrator of property;
- b) satisfaction of respective application of any person of those mentioned in article 2 of this Law by the law court;
- c) on resignation, dismissal from position or replacement of provisional administrator of property in line with article 30 of this Law.

3. Provisions of article 31 of this Law apply to provisional administrator of property.

Chapter VII. Amicable settlement with creditors

Article 35. General procedure of amicable settlement with creditors

1. In order to complete proceedings on bankruptcy the debtor may suggest to creditors to make amicable settlement which would allow to postpone payments, to split them into parts and to assign debts.

2. Agreements with creditors might be concluded within the limits of the process on bankruptcy, irrespective of the manner of its initiation.

3. In case if proceedings on bankruptcy have been initiated with involvement of the law court, administrator of the property is obliged, in compliance with article 21 of this Law, to consider possibility of amicable settlement with creditors and to report to creditors and to the law court whether agreement with creditors will be beneficial for the interests of creditors.

4. If proceedings on bankruptcy have been initiated without involvement of the law court, director acting together with proposed administrator of property may propose amicable settlement with creditors at the first or at any subsequent meeting of creditors. Whereas, settlement might be concluded only with consent of all creditors. If even one creditor is against conclusion of said agreement, proceedings on bankruptcy of debtor continue in general way.

5. When concluding amicable agreement, deferment of payment of underpaid tax sums to the budget and extra-tax payments, payment in portions, summing, payment under obligatory state insurance programme and return of overpaid sums are allowed only in cases and in an order specified in legislation.

Article 36. Proposals concerning amicable settlement with creditors

1. The form of agreement with creditors is not restricted by provisions of this Law, and such agreement may include the following:

- a) provisions based on which re-organisation of the structure of the enterprise-debtor, or activity of debtor takes place;
- b) provisions concerning sale or transfer of the whole or part of the debtor's property, including shares;
- c) provisions on establishment of a new enterprise with any organisation-legal form;
- d) provisions envisaging payment of all or part of claims of unsecured creditors, made as a lump sum or as instalments.

2. In case if the debtor and (or) administrator of property (proposed administrator of property) are desirous of settlement with creditors, then:

- a) meeting of creditors is summoned for acceptance of the draft agreement;
- b) the following documents shall be sent to all creditors:
 - draft agreement with creditors;
 - preliminary financial report with balance and list of all creditors with indication of all sums due to them;
 - notification about the time, date and place of the meeting of creditors.

3. Meeting of creditors in connection with agreement must be held within a term not exceeding 28 days from the date when administrator of property sends to creditors materials listed in clause 2 of this article, however not earlier than 14 days from this date.

4. At the meeting of creditors the debtor must fully disclose financial information for creditors.

5. At the meeting of creditors summoned in connection with agreement with creditors, the latter may, by way of voting:

- b) propose acceptance of another agreement, or amended agreement; or

c) reject proposed agreement.

- 6.If, by opinion of the administrator of property (proposed administrator of property), amended agreement practically does not differ from agreement which was originally proposed by him, then the creditors may vote with respect to amended agreement at the same meeting. If, by opinion of the administrator of property (proposed administrator of property), amended agreement differs significantly from proposed agreement, then the creditors may not vote with respect to amended agreement until the next meeting of creditors is summoned in compliance with this Law.
- 7.Decisions of the meeting of creditors summoned in connection with agreement should be taken in line with provisions of Chapter XII of this Law.

Article 37. Approval of amicable settlement with creditors by the law court

- 1.Any amicable settlement with creditors which has been approved by creditors in accordance with this Chapter is also subject to approval by the law court.
- 2.Administrator of the property must apply to the law court for approval of any such settlement (agreement) with creditors within the term not exceeding 7 days from the date of the meeting of creditors where said agreement was approved. The law court considers such application within a term specified by legislation.
- 3.The party whose interests are affected by such agreement may, during or before consideration of application for approval of such agreement by the law court, apply to the law court for amendment or rejection of such agreement using an argument that terms of such agreement are unfair for this party. Law court, at its session must listen to every creditor objecting against approval of agreement.
- 4.Law court cannot approve agreement with creditors if there is no evidence that all requirements of this chapter have been fulfilled.
- 5.If the law court does not approve this agreement, it may, in its decision, instruct that said (amended) agreement should be submitted for consideration by additional meeting of creditors.
- 6.After it has been accepted by the meeting of creditors and approved by the law court, agreement with creditors shall be binding for all creditors who received notification about the meeting, irrespective of the fact if they approved this agreement, and also if they were or were not present at the meeting of creditors.

7. Administrator of property controls implementation of agreement. Nevertheless, accounting for terms of agreement, administrator of property may assign power of control to other persons, including director (manager) of debtor.
8. In accordance with agreement with creditors, fee to the administrator of property in an amount specified in agreement, will be paid by debtor.

Article 38. Relationship between secured creditors, equally ranking creditors and creditors who voted against conclusion of agreement

1. Agreement with creditors should not violate rights of secured creditors, and also creditors of the first, second or third rank, according to procedure specified in Chapter XII of this Law, if there is no consent of such creditors.
2. Agreement with creditors should not interfere with ranking of creditors of one and the same rank, if there is no mutual agreement about that.
3. Rights of creditors who voted against proposed agreement, or those who did not participate in voting are guaranteed within the limits of ranking, equally with rights of creditors who voted for proposed agreement.

Article 39. Recognition as illegal, or termination of amicable settlement (agreement)

1. By petition of any creditor, amicable settlement may be recognised illegal by the law court in case if when concluding said settlement (agreement) the debtor misreported his property in balance, violation of legislation took place or rights of other persons were violated. If said amicable settlement has been recognised illegal, all financial liabilities of the enterprise-debtor which existed before the settlement will be resumed.
2. If administrator of the property or other person presented evidence to law court showing that agreement with creditors is not implemented in accordance with its terms, the law court may, in an order specified by legislation, annul agreement with creditors and instruct the administrator of property to take measures indicated by the law court. Such measures may consist in the following:
 - a) immediate sale of property of the debtor and distribution of net sale returns in compliance with provisions of Chapter XII of this Law;
 - b) attempt to achieve another agreement with creditors.
3. As a result of non-fulfilment of terms of agreement by the debtor, or losses suffered by creditors as a result of agreement concluded with them on behalf of actually solvent debtor, director (manager) of debtor might be called to account as specified by existing legislation and this Law.

4. In case of termination of amicable settlement, announcement about re-opening of proceedings on bankruptcy of the enterprise will be published in official newspaper.

Chapter VIII. Sanation

Article 40. The process of sanation

1. Sanation is the process in the course of which all liabilities of debtor are fulfilled.
2. Any planned sanation should be approved by the law court.
3. The debtor may apply to the law court with petition about stay of the process on bankruptcy in order to examine an option of sanation. Law court will consider this petition within two weeks term and takes decision about its complete satisfaction or rejection.

Article 41. Terms of sanation process

1. Petition about sanation submitted to the law court by the debtor must contain the following proofs:
 - a) that debtor and its owners undertake and are fully capable to cover any liabilities concerning additional losses caused to creditors while the law court is examining possibility of sanation, in case if the law court does not issue an order about sanation; and
 - b) solvency of debtor may be restored based on sanation.
2. The debtor may demonstrate possibility of restoration of its solvency using any legal methods.
3. To identify possibility or feasibility of the project of sanation, the law court may involve independent experts. Costs related to activity of such experts shall be reimbursed by the debtor.
4. Having considered measures on sanation of the enterprise-debtor, law court may announce open tender for participation of interested legal entities and physical persons in the process of sanation. If, within a month, there will be no legal entities and physical persons willing to participate in tender, or if the debtor disagrees with their terms of sanation, case of bankruptcy of said debtor will be considered as usual.
5. For a period of consideration of possibility of sanation by the law court, provisional administrator of property is appointed for management of business of insolvent debtor.

Expenses of provisional administrator of property will be paid by persons who applied for participation in the process of sanation.

6. Resolution of the law court about beginning of sanation process should include the following:
 - a) term of sanation must not exceed 24 months;
 - b) not less than one third of total amount of claims of all creditors should be paid within 12 months from the date of acceptance of said resolution;
 - c) clause specifying that administrator of the property shall be carrying out control over implementation of sanation as specified in resolution.
7. During the process of sanation, any of the persons listed in article 2 of this Law will have the right to apply to law court with any question concerning sanation. Whereas, the law court make issue resolution in compliance with said circumstances.
8. With successful completion of sanation process, the law court terminates proceedings on bankruptcy with respect to this debtor in an order specified by legislation.
During sanation claims of creditors should be fulfilled in an order envisaged for liquidation of enterprises.
9. During the term of sanation, provisions of sub-clauses a - c , clause 2, article 18 of this Law will apply. Calculation of interest and imposition of penalties may continue during the period of sanation, however demand of their payment may be submitted only at the end of this period.
10. Beginning of the process of sanation shall not prevent secured creditor to recourse to the backing (securing) account in accordance with provisions of this Law.
11. Legal entities and physical persons who participated in the process of sanation of the enterprise acquire the ownership right for part of property contributed to the enterprise.
12. Relevant executive power body of the Azerbaijan Republic may establish different procedure of sanation of state enterprises of special kind.

Chapter IX. Presentation of claims

Article 42. General principles of presentation of claims

Claims of unsecured creditors, including those which arose as a result of legal proceedings on bankruptcy (claims regarding unfulfilled agreements, etc.) and claims of secured creditors (if they do not apply to sums exceeding sum of their coverage) will be recognised by the administrator of property only if they have been submitted in accordance with provisions of this chapter.

Article 43. Announcement about bankruptcy and procedure of presentation of claims

1. Notification about the first meeting of creditors forwarded by the administrator of property or by debtor includes information about certain rules, which creditors willing to present their claims on the bankruptcy of debtor should follow.
2. Creditors may present claims to the debtor in writing, within a term not later than 60 days from the date of publication of notification about the bankruptcy of debtor, in accordance with provisions of this Law. Such claims will be considered by the administrator of property only if they include the following information:
 - a) name (surname, name and middle name) and address of creditor;
 - b) total amount of claims at the moment of institution of proceedings on bankruptcy;
 - c) whether sum of claim includes outstanding interest;
 - d) whether sum of claim includes any penalties or taxes;
 - e) information about how and when the debtor became indebted;
 - f) information about any existing guarantee, date of presentation of such guarantee and sum which the creditor expects to receive;
 - g) surname, address and authority of the person who signed the claim (if said person is not the creditor himself);
 - h) documents (if there are any) confirming that said claim is legal.
3. Any claim of creditors presented in accordance with clause 2 of this article will be examined by the administrator of property in term not exceeding 30 days after its presentation. Administrator of the property prepares schedule of claims of creditors in accordance with provisions of this Law.

Article 44. Principles applied by the administrator of property when estimating claims

1. If interest has been charged on a sum of debt presented on bankruptcy, or if such debt entails penalty sanctions, said interest or sanctions may be demanded as a part of debt, except how such sums are subject or become subject to payment with regards to any period beginning from the moment of bankruptcy of debtor.
2. Claim of creditor at any time, on agreement between the creditor and the administrator of property, may be recalled or changed in terms of required sum.

3. In cases not contradicting legislation sums which are payable to creditor on presentation of claim by the latter, or liabilities under some agreement, including compensation under non-monetary liabilities will be estimated by the administrator of property rather than by law court.
4. If administrator of property annuls obligations of debtor in cases not contradicting legislation, then person suffered as a result of such annulment will have the right to demand compensation of losses from the debtor, whereas compensation of such losses shall be done as unsecured debt on bankruptcy, in the fifth order, according to ranking, as specified in this Law.
5. In all cases when debts (or liabilities) of debtor are to be paid later, term of their fulfilment is regarded as transferred to the moment of bankruptcy of debtor, so that agreement could be considered terminated and creditors should have the right for presentation of claims. If administrator of property estimates sum of compensation to be paid against such transferred (ahead of time) claim, he will have to make discount from the sum of claim, to reflect the fact of presentation of claim ahead of time. Within the context of this Law, sum of claim with discount shall mean net current value of claim.
6. If the debtor has liabilities to his employees concerning illness allowance, these liabilities also shall have to be fulfilled sooner, as all other debts and they are paid in such order of priority as specified in Chapter XII of this Law.
7. Shareholders or owners have the right for compensation of their contributions to the capital of insolvent debtor after claims of all other creditors have been fulfilled in compliance with Chapter XII of this Law. However, in the context of this right, shareholder or owner is not the creditor of insolvent debtor and has no right to vote at the meeting of creditors, or take part in proceedings on bankruptcy in some other way, except cases when such shareholder or owner has separate debt under some other deal, where he is a creditor. Shareholder or owner has no right for clearing of any liability due to him from insolvent debtor with respect to his contribution to the capital on account of any debt which he could have to insolvent debtor. When establishing order of payments to the shareholders, administrator of the property must take into account category of shares belonging to shareholder.

Article 45. Rejection of claims and complaints submitted by

1. Administrator of property may accept or reject a claim, in full or in part.
2. If administrator of property accepts or rejects a claim, in full or in part, he must explain his reasons in writing and forward such written explanation to creditor by post.
3. If the creditor does not agree with decision of the administrator of property regarding his claims, he may apply to the law court for annulment or change of this decision. Such application must be submitted within a term not exceeding 21 days from the day when explanation prepared in accordance with clause 2 of this article has been received.
4. Law court appoints the term for consideration of application under clause 3 of this article and notifies administrator of property as such.

Article 46. Schedule of claims

1. Within a term not more than 28 days after expiration of 60-day period allocated for submission of creditors claims, administrator of property prepares schedule of claims. Such schedule should give information about each claim submitted within specified term, with indication of the following:
 - a) if such claim has been accepted in full or rejected;
 - b) sum of accepted claim;
 - c) position of claim within the rank.
2. Administrator of property submits prepared schedule of creditors claims to the law court within 7 days after its preparation. The law court may:
 - a) approve the schedule; or
 - b) introduce such changes and amendments into the schedule which to his opinion are relevant, and approve such amended schedule; or
 - c) instruct administrator of property to take other measures which the law court considers proper and submit amended schedule of claims again, later.
3. Within a term not more than 7 days after approval of schedule of creditors claims, administrator of property must notify each creditor, who has submitted a claim, about results of consideration of said claims, in writing, in due form and in due term, as specified in article 43 of this Law.
4. Any creditor has the right to be acquainted with the schedule of claims (or its copy).

Chapter X. Secured creditors and claims of ownership

Article 47. Secured creditors

1. Secured creditor has the right for fulfilment of his rights, irrespective of the fact whether proceedings on bankruptcy have been initiated.
2. Administrator of property notifies secured creditor about initiation of proceedings on bankruptcy of debtor. If secured creditor fails to implement his rights with regards to security within 14 days from the day when notification has been received, administrator of property will have the right to sell security (separately, or together with all assets or part of assets of debtor) and to report to secured creditor about returns from sale, minus sale costs, within the limits of total agreed amount of claims of secured creditor. Any surplus of sale returns will remain part of debtor's property.
3. In case if secured creditor initiates proceedings on bankruptcy, he will not lose his right of applying claims at the expense of security.
4. During the period of bankruptcy administrator of property must convince himself in legal value of security belonging to creditors. Validity of security is defined in accordance with existing legislation and Chapter XIII of this Law.
5. Administrator of property satisfies claims of secured creditor by the following ways, as secured creditor may desire:
 - a) sale of the object of security through the auction (or otherwise) and payment of liability thus secured;
 - b) assignment of the ownership right for the object of security to secured creditor;
 - c) sale of the object of security to a third person indicated by secured creditor.
6. With the purpose of satisfaction of claims of secured creditor, in line with sub-clause b, clause 5 of this article administrator of property concludes agreement with secured creditor, terms of said agreement being the following:
 - a) description of assets which are subject to assignment;
 - b) approximate market and balance cost of assets;
 - c) sum to be paid to secured creditor by the debtor under secured liability and contract of pledge;
 - d) list of all former and future pledges with respect to assets which the parties know about at the moment of conclusion of agreement, and also any ownership rights and rights of use with respect to these assets.
7. Agreement mentioned in clause 6 of this article, comes into force after its certification with notary. Whereas, state duty shall not be paid if such duty was paid at the moment of conclusion of contract of pledge.
8. If returns from sale of security are not adequate for payment of compensation to secured creditor in full, the latter might submit claim on bankruptcy as unsecured creditor.

9. Secured creditor has the right to refuse benefits under his security and to submit claim on bankruptcy as unsecured creditor.
10. Owner of any property being in possession of the debtor has the right to come into possession again, except cases when the owner is lessor, or preserves right of ownership according to agreement. In such case this owner has the right for return of this property only with consent of the administrator of property or by resolution of the law court.

Chapter XI. Meeting of creditors

Article 48. Meeting of creditors

1. Creditor may, by power of attorney, authorise his representative to attend and to vote at any meeting of creditors on behalf of this creditor.
2. Meeting of creditors is considered legally summoned when written notification is sent to all known creditors at least 14 days before, as follows:
 - a) by the administrator of property or provisional administrator of property;
 - b) by creditors representing at least one third of the cost of debt;
 - c) by law court;
 - d) otherwise, by request of the law court.
3. Any meeting of creditors summoned in accordance with this Law is considered powerful on condition that creditors are present at this meeting whose claims altogether represent not less than 50 % of total amount of creditors claims.
4. Meeting of creditors has the right to take any decision related to proceedings on bankruptcy with respect to the debtor which does not contradict this Law or resolution of the law court taken in accordance with this Law and does not prevent administrator of property to fulfil his obligations.
5. Decisions taken at the meeting of creditors on any issue, except when passing vote of no confidence in the administrator of property are powerful only when they have been supported by:
 - a) majority of creditors attending the meeting or represented at the meeting;
 - b) majority representing larger part of sum of all known unsecured debts which are due to creditors attending the meeting or represented at the meeting;
6. In case if one or several creditors attending the meeting vote for taking certain measures (except when passing vote of no confidence in the administrator of property) their decision is powerful irrespective whether it has been supported by majority of creditors, if creditors voting for acceptance of such measures have the right for 75 % or more of a sum of debt of insolvent debtor against attendees.

7. All decisions of the meeting of creditors which need approval of the law court become valid only after they have been approved by law court.

Article 49. Voting right of secured creditors

1. Secured creditor (creditors) have the right of voting at the meeting of creditors if he (they) refused from their right for security in accordance with clause 9 of article 47 of this Law. Such act of secured creditor must be made public at the initial meeting of creditors.

2. In case if cost of the object of security estimated in accordance with legislation does not fully cover sum of debt due to secured creditor (creditors), the latter has the right to vote at the meeting of creditors within the limits of obtained difference.

Article 50. Committee of creditors

1. In order to assist to the administrator of property in implementation of his obligations and for control over his activity, meeting of creditors may elect committee of creditors at any time, consisting of minimum 3 and maximum 5 members, on condition that creditors representing major part of total amount of debt attend such meeting in person or by proxy.

2. Meeting of the committee of creditors is regarded powerful, if;

a) notification about the time, date and place of the meeting was sent to members of the committee not later than 14 days before the date of the adjourned meeting;

b) not less than two members of this committee are present.

3. Decision of the committee of creditors is considered valid if it has been supported by majority of members of the committee attending the meeting, or in case of even number of creditors at the meeting - by creditors representing the larger part of cost of debt.

4. Committee of creditors has the right to give recommendations to the administrator of property. Administrator of property takes such recommendations into account on condition that they satisfy the interests of all creditors.

However, administrator of property is not obliged to follow recommendations of the committee of creditors (or meeting of creditors).

5. In case if actions of the administrator of property are considered as unsatisfactory, committee of creditors will have the right to summon meeting of creditors independently and to suggest to pass a vote of no confidence in the administrator of property. Such meeting may be summoned by the committee of creditors by way of notification of all known creditors by letter sent 14 days the latest before the date of adjourned meeting.

6. In case of bankruptcy of state enterprise relevant executive power body has the right to join the committee of creditors as its member.

Article 51. Passing a vote of no confidence in the administrator of property and his dismissal

1. Decision of the meeting of creditors about passing a vote of no confidence in the administrator of property and appointment of new administrator of property will be powerful, if:

- a) most creditors attending the meeting or represented at the meeting voted for adoption of such decision;
- b) such decision was supported by creditors attending the meeting or represented at the meeting, who represent 75 % or more of total sum of debt.

2. Decision about dismissal and replacement of the administrator of property must be approved by the law court after consideration of application submitted by any creditor. Expenditures in connection with such application are paid as expenditures on the bankruptcy proceedings, in the first place, according to requirements of this Law.

When considering application, law court may adopt or reject decision of the meeting of creditors, or, accounting for interests of creditors in general, law court may dismiss administrator of property from his position, and appoint new administrator of property, irrespective of the fact whether his candidature was suggested by the meeting of creditors or not.

Chapter XIII. Ranking and payment against the claims of creditors

Article 52. General procedure of ranking in debt payment

1. Administrator of property may satisfy claims of creditors:

- a) either by way of withdrawal of debt sums due to debtor and sale of assets constituting property of debtor in accordance with Chapter V of this Law, and distribution of returns from such sale of debts among the creditors;

- b) or by way of direct transfer of assets constituting property of debtor to creditors as coverage of their claims.
2. Claims of creditors of each rank should be satisfied only after claims of higher priority have been fulfilled.
 3. In case if distribution has to be done for one category of creditors, all creditors of this category must be regarded as equal and receive compensation in proportion with sums of liabilities due to them.
 4. In case if secured creditors were guaranteed security with respect to same assets, then security which was registered first will be of the first priority.
 5. In case if in the course of bankruptcy it is revealed that the debtor has unpaid liabilities or will have liabilities later as a result of deals concluded before the moment of bankruptcy, or he may have contingent liability to other person, while such other person has existing, current or contingent liability, or debt to insolvent debtor, then:
 - a) if said debts and liabilities existed before the moment of initiation of the bankruptcy case and are expressed in sums of money, or have money equivalent, then these two debts are cleared, thus debts or their part are considered paid;
 - b) if money equivalent of debt or liabilities cannot be estimated with certainty, said equivalent is defined approximately by the administrator of property;
 - c) any debts and liabilities which appeared after the moment of initiation of the bankruptcy case, cannot be accounted for with the purpose of this clause.
 6. Clause 5 of this article cannot be applied to relationship between the enterprise-debtor and its owners (shareholders), as the owner is not regarded as creditor with regards to his claims for compensation of his contribution to the partnership capital.
 7. Claims of creditors submitted after expiration of the term for submission of claims, as specified in Chapter IX of this Law, will be satisfied from the assets remaining after the claims of creditors submitted within the specified term have been paid.
 8. Claims of creditors which remain unpaid due to lack of assets constituting the property of insolvent debtor are regarded annulled, except cases when the cause of such shortage is either illegal attitude, or illegally concluded (by the debtor) deal.
 9. Claims of creditors rejected by the administrator of property (which have not been settled positively on appeal) and also claims rejected by the law court are considered annulled.

Article 53. Priority of payments

1. Distribution of assets which constitute the property of debtor should be done in accordance with provisions of Chapter IX of this Law, in the following order:

- a) all costs and expenditures on the process of bankruptcy (including cost of announcement about bankruptcy published in mass media, legal expenses, fee and expenses of the administrator of property and provisional administrator of property, and also claims resulting from liabilities accepted or continued by the administrator of property after the moment of bankruptcy) are paid in the first place;
- b) claims of employees of debtor with regards to body injuries or death which occurred during working hours shall be paid in the second place;
- c) claims of employees of insolvent debtor with regards to pensions, allowances, privileges and wages which is limited by a term of up to 6 months, expired to the moment of bankruptcy of debtor, shall be paid in the third place;
- d) the following shall be paid in the fourth place:
 - taxes to state and local budgets, deductions to obligatory state social insurance. These claims cover liabilities which arose during one year to the moment of announcement of the debtor bankruptcy;
 - claims of credit organisation, including non-residents, with regards to unsecured loans which have not been paid before the date of enactment of this Law and interest on such loans before said date;
- e) claims of unsecured creditors are paid in the fifth place;
- f) claims of owners of the enterprise-debtor are paid in the sixth place;

2. Any assets remaining after distribution of returns carried out in accordance with clause 1 of this article, are the debtor's property.

Chapter XII. Illegal deals

Article 54. Persons connected with debtor

1. Persons connected with debtor are:

- a) any legal entity owning or having under control not less than 25 % of debtor's capital;
- b) any subsidiary, branch, representation of debtor;
- c) any manager (director) of debtor, including persons who stopped to be managers of the enterprise-debtor 1 year

- before the moment of institution of proceedings on bankruptcy;
- d) partner in any form of partnership.

Article 55. Constraints on rights of transfer of the ownership rights by the debtor

Administrator of property may, in compliance with legislation, apply to the law court with request about restriction of rights of transfer of the ownership rights by the debtor, in any form, in cases when such transfer or establishment of right of pledge were done:

- a) at the time when the debtor was insolvent;
